

JLS Adds VP of Operations & Manufacturing

Company looks to become more vertically-integrated, expand capabilities and sustain growth

For immediate release

York, PA –JLS Automation has added Craig Wolfe to its senior leadership team as VP of Operations & Manufacturing. Wolfe previously spent twenty years at a large industrial manufacturing company in Lebanon, PA where he started in the scheduling department and worked his way up to General Manager. His extensive background offers a wide range of experience from operations management, acquisition integration, manufacturing, lean continuous improvement, quality, safety and purchasing to maintenance, assembly, customer service, fabrication and cross-functional team management.

Wolfe's many accomplishments include improving product quality, increasing working capital and inventory turns, cutting manufacturing expenses and conversion costs and reducing lead times while improving on-time shipments.

“We are excited to have Craig join our team as we continue to grow and expand our capabilities,” says Craig A. Souser, President/CEO. “He’s going to be a great asset and bring valuable experience as we look to sustain our growth and become more vertically-integrated. The entire company looks forward to the addition of his strategic vision, diverse skill set and leadership style.”

Wolfe has a Bachelor of Science in Business Management from Lebanon Valley College in Lebanon, PA. He is actively involved in his community as a member of the Lebanon Valley Chamber of Commerce and is also a member of the American Production Inventory Control Society.
